

Chai Cancer Care is the Jewish community's cancer support organisation, providing a range of services including counselling, complementary therapies, helpline, a comprehensive programme of social and physical activities, advocacy and advice as well as expert lectures.

Services are available to patients, their family and friends. Based at its Centre in Hendon, services are also available in Redbridge (Sinclair House), south London (Nightingale) and in people's homes.

Chai's specialist professional staff is augmented by a team of trained volunteers.

Chai Cancer Care is an independent organisation serving the entire Jewish community and is reliant on voluntary contributions.
